WATER PROMISED RIDGE COUNTRY BY DEVELOPMENT

Sierra County Surveyor Making Camp Near Alleghany for Work

WOULD OPEN MANY MINES

Water Development Would Mean Much to Mines of That Locality

Coming at a time when there is much talk of the probable revision of the state mining laws in regard to hydraulic mining, any work that would help the water situation around the ridge country is of great interest.

George Taylor, Sierra county surveyor, has rented the mine buildings at the Plumbago mine near Alleghany temporarily. There it is expected he will house his surveying crew while htey are surveying the ground for the ditches and flumes that will bring water from the Graniteville country down to the North San Juan district.

At present there are thousands of inches of water from the vast watershed above Graniteville that is going to waste down the Yuba river. If this water is diverted and sent down to the ridge country as it was done in the old hydraulicking days, it will mean the opening up of a great many mines that are in a dormant state now.

Three weeks ago the Nugget published an article about a new lumber mill that the Bell estate is installing in the Graniteville country. It is said that this mill is going to cut lumber for the flumes that will be used in the subject work. The report at first indicated that the mill would cut pine lumber for eastern trade. But as there is little trade for lumber in the eastern states now, the probability that flume lumber will be cut first seems highly reasonable.

The Bell estate has three sections of 75-year-old lumber ready for cutting about five miles above Graniteville. The men are at work preparatory to cutting operations under Jack Miiller.

Water on the ridige even without hydraulicking would mean a great deal to this country. Coupled with a more tolerant attitude on the part of the state toward hydraulic mining would mean a boom here that has not been seen since the early eighties.

Some of the richest gravel mines in the state are idle from French Corral to Graniteville on the San Juan ridge. Lack of water and inability to dispose of tailings are responsible. Let us boost for water and hydraulicking. It will mean much to this part of the state.

HOGE OFFICIALS FROM EAST VISIT PROPERTY

Charles L. Walther, chairman of the board of directors of the Hoge Development Company, and C. D. Scully, vice president of the same company, are winding up a three weeks' visit to this county and will leave for the east in a day or two.

These directors in the local mining company are Arthur W. Hoge's principal associates in the Hoge Development company. Their home is in Pittsburg, Pa.

Mr. Walther and Mr. Scully are both very well pleased with the progress made at the Hoge mine. They are high in their praise of Otto Schiffner for his work in designing the new mill at the mine.

LOCAL SONG WRITER HAS NARROW ESCAPE IN MINE

Back to work in the North Star mine, Frederick Crabbe, well known Nevada City song writer, has nearly recovered from the injury that nearly broke hisi back last Friday.

Working in the North Star mine at that time, a 16-pound rail 11 feet long weighing 176 pounds, fell on Mr. Crabbe's back. tI is said that a rubber coat he was wearing at the time is the only thing that saved his life.

Hanford—Plans approved for remodeling Kings County hospital and construction of annex to institution to cost $40,000.

WATER TRIAL BEING BITTERLY CONTESTED

A legal debate in regard to the present domestic water situation in Sebastopol, just this side of North San Juan, is now being waged at the court house.

tI seems that a certain Mr. Ramsden of Mill Valley, some two years ago purchased a ranch property in Sebastopol. Needing water now for irrigation purposes, Ramsden is trying to take water that is being, and has been, used by life-long residents of that section.

It is a well known and legal fact that when public utility companies cease to make use of water and patrons continue to use said water, it becomes the property of the users. That has been the case in Sebastopol.

The residents of Sebastopol use the water for domestic and irrigation purposes. Ramsden is represented by E. H. Armstrong of Grass Valley and the residents of Sebastopol have placed their case in the hands of Will Moulton, who is representing them. Mr. Moulton has been a resident of that section all his life.

The trial is held in open session in the supervisors room at the court house by a representative of the State Division of Water Resources.

The outcome of this trial will be watched with a great deal of interest, as it may set a precedent for other such cases in this state. Both sides have completed stating their case and the result now rests with the State Division of Water Resources. It is expected that they will announce theiri decision in three or four days.

MANY DEER KILLED NEAR NEVADA CITY THIS WEEK

Charles Gause evidently holds the record for size of deer killed this year. About two weeks ago he killed a 237 pound buck on Backbone ridge above Bloomfield.

The Keystone Market had four nice bucks hanging this week. A three pointer killed by Sargent Huston went 135 pounds, Johnny Marshall brought in a 152 pound 4-pointer, Ray Pengelly downed a 115 pound forked horn, while Frank Sims took the prize with a 156 pounder that had five prongs on one side and nine on the other.

Henry Clark, who killed his first buck on the opening day, dropped his second and last on Tuesday near White Cloud. It had three points on one side and four on the other. It is claimed that the deer weighed so much that a horse had to be sent out from here to bring it out of the hills. As yet we have not heard what the animal weighs.

NEVADA CITY HIGH MAKES IMPROVEMENTS

In the shower room of the local high school a pan has been installed to prevent the spread of athlete's foot, the highly contagious foot infection that spreads so rapidly in public places where people go barefooted. This pan is six inches deep, three feet wide by nine feet long. In it, a prepared solution will be poured, which is supposed to prevent or cure the disease. All boys after taking a shower will have to step into this trough when leaving the shower rooms. It is hoped that this precaution will prevent the disease from gaining a (foot)hold in our high school.

Other work going on at the high school at present is the leveling off of ground in the rear in order to make room for an athletic field. A concrete retaining wall will be put in to hold the bank on the lower side, and by next year a turf will be grown. This will give Nevada City high school a football field on the school grounds.

This year all home football games will be played at the Casscin's Field about one quarter mile south of the high school grounds on the left side of the highway to Grass Valley.

Games here include the Auburn game on October 22, the Grass Valley game on November 5th, and the San Juan high school from Fair Oaks on Armistice Day.

The week-end of October 28th is the only date open for the local high school football team. They hereby wish to challenge any California team of their class to a football game on that day, and will guarantee plenty of opposition.

CHARLES DORSEY, OF PIONEER FAME, PASSES IN SOUTH

The passing of Charles Dorsey, notorious stage robber of the early days, recalls the famous incident in which Dorsey shot and killed Mr. Cummins, a banker of Moore's Flat, in 1879.

James Grimes, local mining man and old-time resiident of Nevada county, gave the Nugget man some of the facts concerning the killing and the trial which later followed. Dorsey and a man named Collins held up a stage coach near the site of the present Hoge mine. Cummins with a shipment of bullion and other passengers were on the coach. Cummins resisted the robbers and was shot by Dorsey. The robbers escaped with the gold.

Through the efforts of Detectives Hall and Lees both Collins and Dorsey were arrested about three years later and brought to Nevada City for trial. They were both convicted and Collins was hung at Nevada City. Dorsey received life imprisonment.

OHIO PUBLISHER SAYS ROOSEVELT IS WINNER

F. W. Valentine, of the Valentine Publishing Co., Cincinnati, Ohio, was a visitor in Nevada City last Friday. Mr. Valentine is making a tour of the United States and is firmly convinced that Franklin D. Roosevelt will be the next president of the United States.

"Ohio will go Democratic," Mr. Valentine said, "and so will a great many other eastern states that are normally Republican. Hoover's lack of leadership and subserviency to Wall street has cost him the support of Republicans all over the country."

Mr. Valentnie is one of the best informed men the editor has talked to in many a day and is in a position that gives his opinion some weight. He dropped into Nevada City to gather some data on the mining situation and says this section is in better shape than any other part of the country he has visited on his trip. Asked about conditions in general and the unemployment situation Mr. Valentine said:

"Conditions are likely to be very serious this winter. With something like 10,000,000 men out of work and very little provision made to take care of the situation, I fear there will be riots and serious trouble in many places. The Red Cross and other agencies are doing what they can but there is undernourishment and actual starvation in certani parts of the United States. The Middle West, including Illinois, Indiana and Iowa are almost certain to go Democratic, and about the only states that are likely to favor Hoover are some of the far Eastern states and even there the result is uncertain."

Asked as to his solution of the present problems confronting the country, Mr. Valentine states that, in his opinion, a shorter work day is about the only thing that can be done right now to alleviate conditions. With a surplus in almost every commodity, Mr. Valentine believes it will be impossible to put any great number of unemployed men to work for some time to come.

TRIO OF BIRTHDAYS TO BE CELEBRATED SUNDAY

Mrs. Clyde Mugford's father, J. P. Riely, of Sacramento, had a birthday October 5th, her son Bobbie had his birthday yesterday, the 6th, and last (and probably least) her husband has a birthday today, the 7th. This three generation trio of the Mugford family are going to celebrate the happy events this Sunday. Twenty-eight friends and relatives from Sacramento alone will come to Nevada City to join in this celebration at the Mugford home on Tribulation Trail. Many other close friends will also attend.

A great family pow-wow is expected and all those invited are asked to bring paddles made of first grade lumber. A good workout is promised to all. Rosin, rubbing alcohol and towels will be furnished.

Tommy Cann and James Rodda of Oakland motored up from the bay district Wednesday night, arriving in Nevada City at one o'clock in the morning. They stayed for thirty minutes and returned to Oakland. A mining deal was made with H. B. Wright during their short stay.

BIG MINING DEAL WILL MERGE TWO BIG PROPERTIES

The Empress and Moynough Mines are Consolidated in Deal This Week

KING EFFECTS MERGER

Adjoining Properties Will be Under Management of Ed. C. Jacobs

A consolidation that will mean much to all parties concerned has taken place in the last few days.

J. R. Murphy of San Francisco last August acquired at a cost of $100,000 the 269 acre Moynough ranch at Newton in Kentucky Flat about six miles west of Nevada City. This property, rich in potential mineral deposits, adjoins the famous Empress mine on the southeast.

Roy J. King, mining engineer of Grass Valley, who has been working for the development of these two mines for a number of years, has within the past week succeeded in uniting the two properties under one head. Ed. C. Jacobs is now mine superintendent of the combined properties. Mr. Jacobs was one of the principal stockholders and mine superintendent of the Empress mine.

Mr. Murphy and his associates now have the controlling interest, and in completing this deal have solved the working problems of the combined Moynough and Empress mines.

At this time no shafts will be sunk on the Moynough property, but work on the 7th level will be continued from the Empress into the Moynough ground at about 700 feet. The Empress shaft is also being sunk to the 1000 foot level and probably the same procedure will be carried on later from that point.

About eight years ago Roy J. King took the first option on the Moynough ground. Besides a payment on the purchase price, considerable prospecting work was done at that time.

Convinced that the property held mineral wealth, Mr. King, with Thomas A. Gill and the late Dr. Julian M. Dobbins, both of Grass Valley, as his associates, renewed the option in 1926. Making a further payment on the purchase price the work of prospecting was renewed with vigor. That work proved to be sufficient to thoroughly establish the meritorious qualities of the property.

In connection with that development work, King prepared a mining engineer's report on both the Moynough and Empress mines. This report (in 1926), revealed the basic

LOCAL HIGH SCHOOL TO PLAY AT PLACERVILLE

Pointing for their second game this year, the Nevada City High school eleven is traveling to Placerville to play the Placerville high school eleven there tomorrow.

High spirits are in evidence among the students and players here. After the first game against Auburn high school, which resulted in a 14 to 0 victory for the local warriors, the entire school seems imbued with the spirit of victory.

Coach Barron may have to beat down some of the over confidence that his men display. For, after all, one victory does not mean much when 7 or 8 games are to be played.

Practice has not let up however, and for the past two weeks fundamentals and the perfecting of plays have been drilled regularly.

As a number of new men are now out for the team, considerable interest will be shown from a personal standpoint. Some new players may make regulars step plenty to hold down their jobs.

NEW HOME COMPLETED IN UPPER NEVADA CITY

In a recent edition of the Nugget, we told of the beautiful new home of Tony Rore, being built. This is now complete and Mr. and Mrs. Rore have moved in and needless to say, they are more than pleased with their new home. Of course there are a lot of things to be done to the yard, but that will all come later. We hope a few more homes of this type will soon be built, as there is an increasing demand for homes in Nevada City.

Winning Smile

When May Betteridge, 21, of Los Angeles, smiled like this at the judges of a national "smile" contest, they lost no time in giving their decision. Miss Betteridge won the grand prize of the western division in the contest, in which thousands of girls competed.

PEOPLE VS. HOFF TRIAL RESULTS IN CONVICTION

From a conviction in the Nevada City justice court, the case of the People versus J. M. Hoff was heard in Superior Judge Raglan Tuttle's court Wednesday.

This was a criminal prosecution filed by three men out of 62 who had wages due them from the Nevada County Mines Company, of which Hoff was general manager and Rogers was secretary. A total of approximately $9000 was owed in wages to the 62 men.

The matter was argued and submitted to the decision of the court, wherupon Hoff was convicted on 5 counts for violating the state wage laws. He received a sentence of two months imprisonment on each count, making a total of 10 months imprisonment. Rogers was convicted on three counts and received a fine of $100 on each count.

Rogers appeared as attorney for Hoff and himself. The people were represented by Arthur L. Johnson, attorney for the State Labor Commission, and R. W. Tharp, assistant district attorney.

Hoff is now out on bond pending determination of his appeal.

In imposing fine and imprisonment Judge Tuttle admonished the defendants for their greedy method of treating their employees. In about six months time the two men drew down salaries from the company totaling $10,000. It was during that same period of time that the labor bills of nearly $9000 were incurred. Judge Tuttle expressed the wish that the result of this trial would cause other employers to give more regard to their employees in regard to payment of wages.

Beatrice Ott and Arthur M. Hoge Married Here

At one of the largest weddings of the year, Miss Beatrice Ott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emil J. Ott, was married last Wednesday to Arthur M. Hoge. The ceremony took place at Trinity Episcopal church in this city at high noon, with the Reverend Charles Washburn officiating.

Decorations in the church consisted of the lovely fall colorings found in the hillsides at this time of year. A background of green ferns prevailed.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a bridal gown of white satin. The veil that draped the gown was the same that her mother wore exactly 35 years ago to the day in Grass Valley. The bride's bouquet was of white rosebuds and lilies of the valley.

As maid of honor, Miss Loretta Miller was attired in mousseline de soie yellow with a hat in the Gainsborough fashion to match.

Mr. Myers Mobley was best man and the ushers were Emil J. N. Ott, Jr., and Jack Grenville.

Mrs. Hoge is a member of a pioneer family of Nevada City. She is a graduate of the University of Nevada, and was honored with the presidency of the Gamma Phi Beta sorority.

Mr. Hoge is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hoge of Nevada City, also a pioneer family. He is a graduate of Stanford University and is in business with his father in Nevada City.

STATE WILL BUILD BIG LABOR CAMP NEAR THIS CITY

Six Acres South of City to Be Site of Buildings for Unemployed

MEN WILL WORK ON ROADS

Will Include Rooming House, Mess Hall and Will Take Care of 100 Men

Mrs. L. Pianezzi, who resides just south of the city limits on the Sacramento highway, has made arrangements to transfer to the state about six acres of land lying between the Summit mine, the Willimas placer, belonging to Newmont Company, and the General Grant claim.

Fire Warden W. F. Sharp is planning to erect a permanent labor camp on this site. The place is ideally situated for the purpose, with an abundance of pine and cedar trees for summer shade and an open exposure for winter sunshine.

The new buildings will be erected about 300 feet off the highway and will consist of a large 40 by 80 foot mess hall and rooming house to accommodate 100 men, a hospital and an office building.

Mr. Sharp anticipates keeping a full crew of men busy this winter on road work under the same regulations that prevailed last winter at the Uncle Tom Cabin site.

This will afford relief and good care for the many unemployed who might otherwise be unable to shift for themselves during the stormy months.

Last winter about 75 men were atken care of and they did efficient work in clearing the inflammable undergrowth from either side of the Tahoe-Ukiah highway and in cutting fire breaks at different points.

They were an orderly and well behaved crew of men; many of them professional men who were simply down and out on account of the extremely depressed conditions.

NEW STATION IS BEING CUT AT THE MURCHIE MINE

A new station is being cut on the 1500 foot level of the Murchie mine this week. The mine is located east of Nevada City. They have just sunk an additional 200 feet from the 300 foot level.

In a short time the company will start drifting with the object of picking up extensions of ore bodies below the old workings. It is understood that ore of good mill grade is exposed in the new area.

When you consider that the Murchie mine is several hundred feet above the surface of the North Star mine in Grass Valley and is down about 9000 feet it will be safe to predict that the company will be able to sink many hundred feet before their ore bodies are erhausted.

About 200 men are now employed at the mine proving that the promise of 250 men employed by the first of the year will be more than fulfilled. Within the past few weeks two shifts were added to the mill crew, placing the mine on a 24-hour work day.

AUTO ACCIDENT AT CORNER OF MAIN AND BROAD STS.

Three supposedly "veterans" of something or other, while making a left hand turn up Broad street from Pine street brushed fenders with C. E. Martz Sr., who was driving south on Pine street. The damage done was very slight, although the "veterans" were wont to make much ado about it. They caused quite a bit of commotion in the center of town and indicated that they were going to make considerable trouble for Mr. Martz.

Tom Torpey and Gomer Hopkins took the part of Mr. Martz, who is a local man well past his 70th year. For a time it looked like we were going to be treated to a free for all.

The vets decided to lay the matter before Judge Mobley and have him act as prosecuting attorney, defending attorney, bailiff, jury, scribe and what have you. Judge Mobley threw them out of his office and told them to see District Attorney W. E. Wright across the street if they had a case to press.

DOES NEVADA CITY NEED AN AUDITORIUM ?

Many cities in California have found that the building of an auditorium is not only an asset to the community, but is a good investment from a financial standpoint. For instance, if a lecturer comes to town, he is charged for the use of the auditorium. If there is a basketball game a certain percentage of the gate can be charged. Horse shows, county fairs, glee clubs, baby shows, boxing and wrestling matches, school graduations, dog shows, theatricals and other affairs provide sources of revenue from the auditorium.

With such a building, the need for a high school gymnasium would be greatly lessened. Arrangements could be made for both gymnasium classes and athletic contests.

Few people, perhaps, have thought of the handicap under which the local high school is laboring through the lack of a gymnasium. At this writing Nevada City High School is having a hard time to reenter the Sierra Foothill Basketball League because of the lack of gymnasium facilities here. Many high schools from other cities object to playing here because of the lack of a gymnasium.

Mr. Kjorlie, the Nevada City High School principal, made a trip to Auburn last Saturday to attend a meeting of the Basketball League. At that meeting he encountered considerable opposition to the re-entrance of our high school into the league. This was based chiefly on our lack of facilities.

Ten thousand dollars worth of bonds have been raised in Nevada City for the purpose of building a community swimming pool. Why could not this fund be devoted towards the building of a municipal auditorium? A swimming pool would only be used by a small percentage of the people, and for a limited time during the year. Besides, there are many good swimming places near Nevada City already.

Thing this over, you tax-paying citizens. Don't you think we need an auditorium?

SAVINGS TO HOME OWNERS

Many people are alert to money-saving possibilities in these days to repair and remodel their property at low cost. As a result, numerous places have been improved in appearance, convenience and comfort. Oftentimes living conditions become safer too.

To aid employment, the Chamber of Commerce in Pawtucket, R. I., appointed a committee to encourage citizens to modernize and repair their premises. Money was donated to finance publicity to inform people of the program. Men from construction and repair companies were enlisted to solicit home owners and interest them in the project. So successful were they that three-quarters of a million dollars were employed in betterment of dwellings and home owners were saved much money. Other communities could profit by following this plan.

The greater safety resulting from proper repairing and remodeling of buildings should not be overlooked, for it is of the utmost importance.

The National Board of Fire Underwriters, which is well informed as to conditions, reports that fire losses in dwellings increased 50 per cent from 1924 to 1930, and that this loss in 1930, $159,853,023, was 31 per cent of the nation's total fire loss.

This waste of material wealth can be reduced by programs of home betterment, particularly when improvements include firestops in walls to retard spread of flames, fire-resisting ceilings (cement on metal lath), cleaning and repairing of heating plants, smoke-pipes and chimineys, replacement of worn parts and moving smoke-pipes a safe distance from all burnable material. Electric wiring and fixtures should also be inspected and made to conform to safety requirements of the National Electric Code. Cleaning up and painting removes many common fire hazards.

A new front and roof now adorn the A. Seaman and Son blacksmith shop and garage on Clark street. The old roof which has withstood the elements for many a season, has been replaced by a higher one and with the new front, the entire building takes on a more modern aspect. The building will soon be painted and will look like new.

If more Nevada City business men would loosen up and do repair work that will have to be done eventually anyway, it not only would make the town look better and help drive away depression, but it would very likely increase business.

FABULOUS MINERAL WEALTH IS FOUND IN NORTHERN CANADA

Total Value of Field Unknown; Mining Experts Enthusiastic; Activity is Feverish.

Probably one of the most important gold strikes in history has recently been made in the Great Bear country, about 1000 miles north of Edmonton, Alberta, Canada. This strike brought 300 men to the northern field this last summer, whereas it is claimed there is plenty of room for ten times that number.

Samuel Peckett, mining man from French Corral, has friends living near the Great Bear Lake country. From them he has received a great deal of information in regard to the strike. Most of our information is gathered from him on this subject.

Although there seems to be good showings of silver, argentite, uranium and radium, gold seems to be by far the most important discovery made to date.

The surfaces of Mystery Island in Great Bear Lake have as yet barely been scratched by prospectors' picks but the rocks there are known to contain vast riches. On Labine Point, the riches of silver and pitchblende have set the northern mining world agog. It is said that the ore there resembles pure silver, so high is its cotent of this precious metal. Many strikes of free silver have been made.

Near Labine bay, from a single glory hole a quarter of a million dollars worth of high grade pitchblende and silver ore was gleaned by hand methods during the early part of the open season. Around it are smaller pits, some of them recently blasted and all of them further confirming the immense wealth the district holds.

Not only have individual miners and prospectors been working the field ,but several large mining companies have invseted heavily in the development of that territory.

Drills, hoists, pumps, mills and other modern mining equipment has been shipped there. Although much of the work is closing down for the winter, a few of the companies are installing electric lighting and heating plants and will continue work through the witer. A number of shafts are well down below the winter frost line and work there will be quite feasible.

Enough is known about the gold find to warrant much more work in most fields than has been done. The big companies are encouraging the lone miner or prospector to do work in that section. There is room for an unlimited number that can grubstake themselves or find someone to do it for them. In almost any other field, mineral wealth such as found in the Great Bear field would have meant a great many more men at work.

It is said that is the reason why there were not more finds made in the field this summer. The work was not being done and it would take at least 3000 men to do it properly.

It is a tremendous coluntry and there is a lot of territory between Lindsley Bay and Camsell river. To show the lack of men, take for example the four mile stretch between Glacier and Cameron Bay. It had only one prospector working on it this summer, and that is a tremendously rich district.

So far, about 75 per cent of the prospectors on the field have been out staking and not doing anything on the claims already staked. A lot of so-called snow staking has been going on and a lot of it has been pure wild catting. The men have just been putting stakes in, not looking for mineral showings and in some cases the stakers did't know whether there was anything in their claim or not.

It is a big country and there are not enough men on the field to do much more than make a beginning. It is said that they will be making strikes up there for at least five years to come. There is a lot of work that will have to be done before the wealth of the area can be even estimated.

FIRE DAMAGES HOUSE ONCE OCCUPIED BY PRESIDENT HOOVER

Two Barns and Woodshed Burn to Charcoal on Boulder Street Tuesday Afternoon

Shortly after four o'clock Tuesday afternoon Mrs. Lamar Fleming, of 140 Boulder street, saw smoke coming from behind her woodshed. Upon investigating, she found that a small grass fire had started just to the rear of the woodshed. Mrs. Fleming hurriedly phoned to the fire department.

The two fire trucks speeded to the scene, but were hampered by a traffic jam at the plaza. At ten minutes after four, when the fire trucks reached the scene, the woodshed and two adjoining barns were a mass of flames. Neighbors on both sides of Boulder street were by this time playing water on the roofs of their homes.

The burning buildings were as dry as tinder, and if they were sprayed with gasoline it is doubtful if the flames would have spread more rapidly or mounted higher. At the heat of fire, flames shot a good 100 feet in the air, sending huge billows of smoke skyward.

The work of the firiemen under Fire Chief Byron Landrigan in controlling the flames was very commendable. In just ten minutes after starting work the fireman had the flames well under control, although they stayed on the job for nearly an hour in order to thoroughly extinguish the fire.

Several trees near the conflagration were burnt to a crisp. The Fleming home, which has just recently been renovated and repainted, was blistered and scorched in the rear.

The two barns were used as a garage, housing four cars every night. Fortunately no cars were in the buildings yesterday afternoon. Mr. Fleming, who owns the burned buildings, had stored his winter's supply of wood in the shed. The wood was saved, but badly scorched and plenty soaked. Mr. Fleming will have to dry that wood out in a hurry as it looks like rain any day now.

Mr. and Mrs. Fleming have recently returned from Peru, where Mr. Fleming was foreman of the Serro De Pasco copper mine in the Andes mountains. He is now with the Murchie mine.

The Fleming home is the house that Herbert Hoover used to live in when he worked as a mucker in the old Reward mine here in Nevada City back in 1900. President Hoover also worked as a car man in the Reward mine. In saving the Fleming home, the local fire department not only saved a home, but an historic landmark of the county as well.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. James Dolan, at 150 Boulder street, on the upper side of the lot where the barns were, was slightly blistered. as was the home of Mr. and Mrs. Terry. The Terry home is owned by Mrs. Devine and is next door to the lot where the barns were.

On the other side and to the rear of the Dolan home, John Snell had his hands full extinguishing a small blaze that started near the chimney on his roof. He lives at number 202 Boulder street. The firemen came to his help and gave the roof a good dousing.

No real damage was done to any of the homes. A crowd of nearly 500 people saw the fire and many of the male spectators volunteered their services in helping control the blaze.

H. H. Hallett, fire truck driver, who drove to the scene of the fire in jigtime, handled the distribution of hoses in a capable manner. Ex-Fire Chief Dick Goyne, who retired last August, could not resist temptation and piled in with the rest of the firie laddies. In fact all of the members of the fire department deserve commendation for the speedy and efficient manner in which the job was handled.

Some trouble was encountered with autoists who persisted in driving over the fire hose. Robert A. Maier was fined $5.00 for so doing, and a Mr. F. D. Bundsen of Palo Alto skipped town after being told to report at the city hall for the same offense. A warrant for his arrest was sworn to by Fire Chief Landrigan.

Roosevelts Record Shows Courage and Resolution

By George Creel

Any man who dares to challenge the rule of the great privileged interests is made the object of instant attack, and every well of public opinion is poisoned by subtle propaganda. Franklin D. Roosevelt is no exception to this rule. From the day he defied the Power Trust, and declared his championship of the "forgotten man," he has been the victim of a vicious whispering campaign.

Of the many charges, the most favored is that Governor Roosevelt is a spineless creature, utterly without courage, decision or resolution. Like the lies against John N. Garner and William G. McAdoo, names and dates are lacking. No proof of "spinelessness" is ever furnished, and for the very good reason that there is no proof to give.

A hundred instances might be cited to show Franklin Roosevelt's strength of character and unflinching purpose, but just three typical examples will do. First is the fight that he has made against the infantile paralysis that struck him down in his thirty-ninth year. No braver struggle was ever waged than this man's daily battle for eleven long years, and his victory stands as an everlasting proof of courage.

Second, there is Governor Roosevelt's handling of the case of Mayor James J. Walker whose removal from office was asked by a legislative committee. It was confidently anticipated by Republicans that Governor Roosevelt would not dare to deal sternly with Walker, the idol of Tammany Hall, for the threat had been openly made that unless "Jimmy" was given a clean bill of health, New York would be lost to the Democratic party. In addition to the menace of Tammany's anger, William R. Hearst was championing Walker's cause with all the force of his powerful organization.

Every Democratic leader urged caution on Governor Roosevelt, advisiting that he judge the case solely on the record, which showed gross improprieties, but no criminal transaction. This advice was boldly disregarded. No sooner had Mayor Walker appeared than Governor Roosevelt made it clear he meant to have the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth. With one sweeping gesture he brushed legal technalities aside, and declared the policy that every public official must at all times stand ready to explain his income down to the last penny. Faced with this demand, Mayor Walker resigned, issuing a hysterical attack that alleged "unfair treatment" but even the Republican press was forced to admit Governor Roosevelt's courage and commended him for the high ground that he took.

A third instance of the Democratic candidate's progressivism and iron resolution is furnished by his stand against the mighty Power Trust. For years private interests have been trying to obtain control of the St. Lawrence river with its potential develpoment of 1,250,000 horsepower. On the day that Franklin Roosevelt took office as governor, he declared that the people must and would retain their ownership of this great natural resource, and announced a plan for state development that would break the grip of the monopoly that charged consumers extortionate rates.

The Power Trust, acting through the Republican majority in the Legislature, blocked the plan, but Governor Roosevelt took his fight to the people and made it an issue in his campaign for re-election in 1930. If lower rates are a myth, he asked, why do Canadians just across the river get the current for one third of what Americans pay? If no market could be found for the power, why was the Power Trust begging a lease?

His majority was 721,000, more than twice the vote ever given any other governor. Armed with this mandate from the people, Governor Roosevelt forced his bill through the assembly, but the senate loaded it down with jokers that made the measure worthless. He did not whine that his hands were tied, but went at once to the people through the press and over the radio. Great mass meetings endorsed him and the Republican majority, cowed by popular anger, confessed defeat and authorized an expenditure of $171,000,000 for the St. Lawrence project.

Had work started at once, it would have given employment to thousands and started the wheels of industry, but President Hoover stepped in and blocked the gigantic project. New York owned the power site, and it was New York's money that would have to be spent, yet New York was forbidden to conduct negotiations with Canada, and barred from the secret discussions. Openly, specifically,, Governor Roosevelt declared that the action was taken in the interest of the Power Trust.

Franklin D. Roosevelt

Is this the conduct of a weak, spineless man? When Governor Roosevelt's bold challenge to Tammany is compared to President Hoover's servile surrender to the tariff interests; and when the Democratic candidate's fight against the Power Trust is set side by side with the Republican candidate's truckling to the railroads and banking interests, thinking people will have little difficulty in deciding which man is courageous and which one is cowardly.

RAILROAD HELPS FOREST SERVICE CUT FIRE LOSSES

Announcing that forest fire losses this year will probably be the lowest in the history of the West, the government forest service has again acknowledged the effective cooperation of the Southern Pacific company, whose extensive fire fighting organization has long been devoted to assisting the federal forces ,it was announced this week.

With a large portion of its 9000 miles of western lines operated through heavily timbered country, the railroad for many years has maintained "rolling" brigades of fire fighting apparatus, located at strategic points in the mountain regions, according to J. H. Dyer, vice president of the company.

Kept under steam constantly during the summer monhts, three specially equipped fire trains are ready at a moment's notice to answer an alarm at any point on the railroad's main line in the high Sierra, Dyer revealed, and in all emergencies they are given the right of way.

The most unusual feature of the railroad's activity in fire prevention and fire fighting is a lookout station on a peak near the Sierra summit, it was pointed out. By means of an ingenious telescopic device watchmen can detect fires many miles away. Alarms are telephoned to government and railroad fire stations and fire trains are quickly dispatched to the scene.

LOS ANGELES MEN ENTER MOJAVE DIST.

MOJAVE, Oct. 4.—The coming of the Grey Eagle and Elephant mining companies into the Mojave district promises the first active operations in many years. Actual mining, outside of leasing has been at a standstill for some time.

The operations of the two companies promises to attract the attention of other large interests. The Mojave district was at one time the second largest gold mining districts in Kern county.

Under the joint control of a Los Angeles syndicate of business and professioal men, the new management is planning extensive development and operation. At the present time the principal ore breaking is going on at the Grey Eagle mine and the milling activities at the Elephant property. The Staple mill is on this property and is being pushed to its normal capacity while plans are maturing for enlargement in the development of ball mill grinding and tankage.

The earlier announced plan of discontinuing all lease operations has been modified and lessee operations will be licensed on the south and west end of the mountain, locally known as Elephant Hill. The new company will occupy all ground on the north slope and extend the Echo tunnel from near the mill directly through on the course of the vein to an intersection with the Echo adit on the Fisher property, thence onward under the highest outcrop of the vein system. . This tunnel will be electrified and made the main haulage outlet to the entire system of the two groups.

The new company is not a stock concern but a group of individuals who are placing their own money in the venture under a controlling trustee. The management is in the hands of J. L. Harper, well known mine operator of the Pacific Northwest and Alaska. On the operating staff is also J. W. Turner, formerly with the Anaconda Copper Company of Montana. Paul Staples remains with the metalurgical end, and Frank W. Bowley, cyanide expert and mill technician, will reach here this week from Alaska to join the forces.

A Couple of "Irish" Named Lukats and Koken Are Scrapping to Succeed Marchy Schwartz, Grid Star Lost to Notre Dame Through Graduation

BY PHILIP MARTIN

THOSE "Fighting Irish" from Notre Dame will be staging their typical "Irish" brawls on the gridiron this year! But there's even a greater fight going on within the team itself.

This fight concerns two "Irish" boys who are struggling to fill the shoes of Marchy Schwartz, brilliant back whom Old Man Graduation took out of play at the end of last year. The two "Irishers" are Nick Lukats and Mike Koken.

Coach "Hunk" Anderson lost quite a few valuable men last year. In addition to Schwartz, Captain Tommy Yarr, all-American center; Frank Nordy Hoffman, guard, and Dick Mahony, end, are missing. But Schwartz's position is acknowledged to be the hardest to fill.

Little Mike Koken has the edge on Lukats, in that he played more or less regularly last year as an understudy to Schwartz. Lukats went out of the game early in the practice season with a broken leg. But early season this year finds Lukats as much in the play as Koken.

IN one of the early practice games Lukats was put in the right halfback position and tore away for several long runs, three of which were good for touchdowns. The next day Mike was put in the position and tied the score with Nick by diving over for three touchdowns and making several thrilling dashes.

With such competition for Schwartz's job, Coach Anderson may develop another right halfback who'll reach all-American caliber. With both boys striving to unseat the other, they're bound to play the best football in their system. And, with typical Notre Dame football drilled into their heads, they'll play some of the best football in the country.

Other replacements of losses by graduation concern Tom "Kitty" Gorman, who is expected to take Yarr's place at center, and Hughie DeVore, who has a chance to fill in for the missing Dick Mahony or take Captain Paul Host's place at left end if he is moved over into Mahony's old spot.

It appears that Coach "Hunk" Anderson of Notre Dame is going to have a tough time deciding which player to use, Nick Lukats, left below, or Mike Koken, right, to fill the winged shoes of Marchy Schwartz, above, who has graduated from the school.

Frank Hoffman's position at guard is covered, with the return of Jim Harris, Norman Greeny, Bill Pierce, Joe Pivarnik and Harry Wunsch. It looks like a battle between Harris and Greeny for this spot.

BUT you never can tell at Notre Dame. Stars there have a way of flashing into the headlines after one game. The school has so many recruits to pick from that it is merely a matter of selecting great football players from a group of fine ones.

This year 110 players turned out for the first call. You may be sure that, with this large number to choose from, the numerous experienced hands back again, and a coaching staff well versed in the ways of the late incomparable Knute Rockne, Notre Dame will be hard to beat for national honors this year.

NEVADA CITY BOY ON U. C. FRESHMAN CREW

BERKELEY, Oct. 6.—Harry F. Jefferson, of Nevada City, is one of the many members of the University of California freshman crew squad who are reporting daily to Carroll M. "Ky" Ebright, head rowing coach, and his assistant, Russ Nagler, on the Oakland estaury.

Although crew is primarily a spring sport, the fall season is devoted to teaching the freshman oarsmen the fundamentals of rowing. The spring preparatory season is used for the development of racing crews.

The present fall season will be climaxed with the annual race with Sacramento Junior College on the estaury during the middle of November.

Ebright is satisfied with the newest group of oarsmen to report. He expressed himself recently in this regard saying there are "some very good prospects in the present freshman squad."

California crews, under Ebright's tutelage, have always been powerful organizations and twice have succeeded in winning an Olympic Games championship. The Bears won as the representatives of the United States in 1928 and again last spring. The 1932 victory marked the first time in the history of Olympic Games rowing that any American crew had twice won the eight-oar event.

The present freshmen will be seniors when Ebright presents his next boat to compete for the right of representing the United States.

Jefferson is a candidate for the coxswain position in the freshman shell.

Youthful Strength

Dr. Magnus Hirschfeld, the world-known authority on Sexology and Director of the Institute for Sexual Science of Berlin, Germany, created to help the million of men and women who have lost or are losing their vital physical power. In his 25 years of practice and research, however, he realized that the weakening of man's glands was also responsible for other troubles: High blood pressure, hardening of the arteries, physical exhaustion after work or exercise, dizziness, depression, neurasthenia, etc.

All these troubles can be removed with Titus-Pearls. Numerous cases were treated by Dr. Hirschfeld in his Berlin Institute.

L. S. (State Official; 60 years old, married) complained of physical exhaustion, dizziness and tremors. Was easily tired. Mental powers dull and slow moving. Physical powers had been incomplete for previous 5 years. Blood pressure too high. Given 2 Titus-Pearls 3 times a day. 2 tweeks later the medical report on this man was: General health better, more vigor; dizziness much less and returning of power. Treatment continued and 2 weeks later L. S. reported again, this time to say that all wearinesse and exhaustion had gone; he felt fresh and buoyant. His blood pressure had fallen, and at 60 years of age he had regained the physical power and virility that he had known in the prime of life.

Start regaining your youthfulness now! To-day! In 2 weeks' time you will be aware of the new, virile force within you. Send $5.00 (cash registered or money-order) for 2 weeks' treatment.

CARELESSNESS CAUSES COSTLY CONFLAGRATION

A fire caused by careless hunters caused the Forest Service considerable trouble last Tuesday atfernoon. The fire started near the Diamond Creek road and burned over three acres before being checked by the ten members of the fire crew.

R. L. P. Bigelow, who was out riding near the scene of the fire, happened on the spot soon after the fire started. He was riding with Forest Superintendent Cronemiller of the Modoc national forest, Forest Assistant Bacon, and Fred Dooly, lumberman. All four men pitched in and aided materially in checking the fire until the crew arrived on the job.

The damage done was not great, although it had great possibilities of being a bad fire. It was somewhat expensive, however, as the cost is estimated at $200.

Tracks were followed from the starting point of the fire and showed that three hunters had gone from there to a recently abandoned camp at the head of the Steep Hollow creek. Three hunters are known to have camped there earlier that same day.

If all hunters would keep faith and abstain from smoking while in the woods, many fires would be averted that are now causing loss of life and property.

FORMER NEVADA CITY BOY SUICIDES IN YOLO CO.

Word was received here last Tuesday of the suicide of Howard Reynolds, son of William J. Reynolds of Nevada City, which took place in Yolo county Monday afternoon. Young Reynolds took his own life with a shotgun.

Howard Reynolds was educated in the public schools of Nevada City and had many friends in and around this city who are saddened by the news of his untimely death.

One of the reasons and probably the main one for the rash act was the fact that young Reynolds lost one of his legs about a year ago, an infection following a fracture making it necessary to amputate the member. The boy also recently lost a good position with the Pacific Gas & Electric Co.

His father, W. J. Reynolds and wife, left Tuesday for Woodland and arrangements are being made for the funeral.

Miss Toccalini Honored—

Misses Lucille Jefford and Beatrice Bone of Grass Valley entertained Saturday evening at a miscellaneous shower in honor of Miss Vera Toccalini of Nevada City, whose marriage to Donald Steger will be an event o fthis month. About 20 friends from the two cities were present to enjoy the happy event.

MANY IMPROVEMENTS BEING MADE AT THE IDAHO-MARYLAND

The Idaho-Maryland mine is the scene of many activities at the present time, with work being rushed on the new 105-foot steel head frame which will be completed in about two weeks.

In enlarging the head frame the shaft had to be enlarged and retimbering in the shaft is going ahead as fast as the work can be accomplished. Larger pockets are being made for the skips which have been enlarged from two-ton to four-ton size. Heavier rails are also being laid in the shaft, and new and larger ore bins of concrete are being constructed.

The company at this time is contemplating the installation of Diesel engines so they will be able to generate all of their own power.

The many improvements are in line with a program that was mapped out last January and when completed it is expected they will handle at least 400 tons of ore daily from the Idaho-Maryland and Brunswick properties.

The new flotation mill was placed in operation last February after experiments had been carried out which proved a large savings by this method.

Within the last few months two shifts have been added, making a total of three shifts in the 24-hour day. Several ledges carrying excellent values have been opened up recently, one vein which was traced to the 1400 level, causing comment from the state mineralogist, Walter W. Bradley and many other mining engineers of note.

Errol McBoyle, to whose credit the success of the mine is due, is president of the company and he states that they have about 2000 acres in the Idaho-Maryland properties with enough ore in sight to keep the mine in operation for many years to come.

BIG MINING DEAL WILL MERGE TWO PROPERTIES

structural and ore conditions of the two adjoining properties, that made consolidation highly desirable.

In September 1929, George Bever, mining executive of the Butte Boys Consolidated Mines corporation, operating at Bagley, Mariposa county, secured an option on the Moynouga mine. Bever paid for that option entirely on the representations contained in Kig's report made in 1926, as he had never seen the property himself.

A few months later he assigned his option to J. E. Tudor, mining man from Seattle, Wash. Tudor and Bever interested Elmira, New York, capitalists in the venture, and in 1930 the Gold Star Mining and Development Company was incorporated. This company started operations August first of that year, but were unable to carry out development plans because of the slack condition of the nation's securities market.

Work was suspended and in August of this year Murphy acquired the property. During the past year the Empress mine has been worked with Jacobs as mine superintendent.

Previous to that time Lester Dull had worked the property under the name of the Newtown mine. It was named after the Newtown Mining company. Dull sunk his shaft 150 feet before relinquishing the mine to Kleen, Jacobs, Hinds and associates.

Starting at the 150 foot level the new mining company since that time have reached the 745 foot point. They also installed a mill and modern flotation.

SMALL FIRE ON DIAMOND CREEK SOON CONTROLLED

Tuesday was fire day in Nevada City. At least the indications all point that way. The first excitement was caused when the report came in to the Forest office that a fire of large proportions was raging at the head of Diamond Creek about 22 miles from Nevada City.

A crew of 50 men and supplies was rushed to the scene of action and when they arrived it was found to be a very tame affair, with only about three quarters of an acre of brush burned over.

The forest service handled this in apple pie order and about ten men were left on the job to keep the fire under control. There was very little damage done, but the reason the fire looked so big was the dense smoke which led everyone to believe the fire covered much more territory than was actually found to be the case.

SPLENDID WORK

This was said frequently at the fire when the foreman and others were so successful in their efforts in confining the flames to a restricted area. As the undersigned was one of the principal beneficiaries of that heroic service he wishes thusly to publicly express his appreciation.

JACK SNELL.

Roofing needs, roofing needs, throng our thoughts today,
When the roof is weather-proof worry flies away;
Cedar shingles you may choose, composition, paper,
All of these will fill the bill when the raindrops caper.
Roofing needs, roofing needs, do not make delay,
Lest the cold rain oozing thru, spoil a restful day;
Mend that roof above your head, safeguard every treasure,
Then the threat'ning winter storms cannot mar your pleasure.
